DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-7 are canceled.
2. Claims 8-20 are pending.
3. The objection to Claims 9-20 is withdrawn in light of Applicant's amendment to the claims.
4. The rejection of claim 16 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph is withdrawn in light of Applicant's amendment to the claims.
5. The rejection of claims 8-20 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reinwald et al. (US 4,255,148) is maintained for the reasons recited in the previous office action and further described below.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed on January 16, 2003 in paper # 6, have been fully considered but they are not found to be persuasive.
7. In response to applicant's argument that Reinwald et al. do not teach a portable device for treating soild fabric, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In the instant case, Reinwald et al. are silent as to the portability of the device, however do teach that the device according to the invention consists of a washing or cleaning unit which may be of a conventional or modified construction. See col.10, ln.43-47.

Furthermore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to design a portable device for treating soiled fabric having the same limitations as recited in the instant claims, with a reasonable expectation of success, because the broad teachings of Reinwald et al. suggest a machine washer having the same limitations as recited in the instant claims for treating soiled fabric and furthermore, machine washers are capable of being moved about in general. Hence the rejection of claims 8-20 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reinwald et al. is proper.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
